Homework 3 Answers

Answers

- 2. The Zokrates plugin rejects invalid inputs when creating the proof, but you can manually edit the proof, which should then get rejected by he verifier.
- 3. Because we are working on the Ethereum blockchain, we can have public inputs from other contracts, but the whole question of trusting data sources then becomes relevant.